CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

The finest silk hats always on hand at Baker & Melver's. 30-5

There will be a Trotting Match on the track at the Fair ground this (Thursday) morning at 9 o'clock A. M. for a purse of $50.

The most durable hats, for farmers and working men, can be found at Baker & Melver's very cheap. 30-5

For fresh Baltimore Oysters, raw, stewed or fried, go to Cunningham's, on Ohio street, opposite the Governor's mansion. 30-5

All styles of hats and caps, suitable for all classes, always on hand at Baker & Melver's, at the lowest cash prices. 30-5

The New York Store has a choice assortment of rich vestings, the newest style of cassimers, and fine cloths, selected by Hugh Glenn in London and Paris, at all cheap. 30-5

No man should go to the Fair without a Spencer hat upon his head. At 32 West Washington street you can buy a hat, beautiful, durable and cheap. It is the place to buy them right. 30-5

WESTERN LAND.—Having reliable agents in all the Western States, we are prepared to pay taxes there with promptness. 30-5

FRANK SMITH, Real Estate Agent, 62 3/4 W. 12 doors E. of New York Store. 30-5

At the City Grocery Store, No. 31 West Washington street, will be found a large and choice assortment of foreign and domestic fruits. We saw yesterday at that establishment some of the finest peaches and lemons we have seen this season. 30-5

ICE, ICE.—The greatest luxury in warm weather is ice. Without it how could we endure the heat of summer? Blessed be the man that invented ice—ice in summer. Mr. Geo. W. Pitts, on Vermont street, has the nicest, cleanest and most transparent ice which he delivers each morning to his customers. 30-5

FINE JACOBS.—At the wholesale liquor store of Martin Hug, No. 140 West Washington street, in the block west of the State House, is to be found a superior stock of brandies, whiskies, wines, &c., foreign and domestic. Visitors to the Fair and others would do well to call at Hug's and examine his extensive stock. 1-3

HUG'S RESTAURANT.—The reliable establishment, known as the headquarters for Malby's celebrated oysters, is still in full run. The restaurant is always well supplied and ready to accommodate a superior stock of victuals. Everybody knows where to find Hug's—in the old Capitol building. 1-3

Boy Lost.—A boy named Michael Brann left his home in Indianapolis on the 23d of September. He is eleven years old, large of his age. I will pay a liberal reward to any person that will return him, or give information where he is. Address Michael Brann, Henderson's Addition, Indianapolis. 1-2

If you want a handsome hat, go to Spencer's. He has them.

Are you after a durable hat? Spencer, 32 West Washington street, sells them.

Do you want the worth of your money? Buy your hat or cap at Spencer's. He will give you your money's worth every time.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.—This old established restaurant is doing a fine business. All the delicacies of the season can be found there and the choicest of wines and liquors. Its superintendant, Frank Reitz, is all right on the square, and a host of F. L. T. friends pay him their respects.

We understand that the reported disagreement between Gov. Morton and Gen. Boyle had no foundation in fact. The most friendly relations exist between these distinguished gentlemen, and the rumor which came here from Louisville was like many of those grape vine reports we get on the streets. No one knows how they originate.

OLD BOURBON WHISKY.—The purest and oldest Bourbon whisky ever brought to this market is to be had at Thompson's, on the southwest corner of Illinois and Maryland streets. Wines, brandies, gin and other liquors are also to be had there. The Messrs. Dundee are old dealers and pride themselves on keeping none but the best. Our friends visiting the Fair would do well to call and purchase what they require. 30-5

The State Fair.

Yesterday was the first exhibition day of the Fair, and although the crowd in town equaled in number any heretofore assembled here, the attendance was not large. The review was the great attraction. We are a warlike people, and the women partake largely of the love of military display. They love brass buttons better than fat cattle, and the men will follow them to see the soldiers. To-day the attractions within the inclosure receive more attention. The fine band of the 19th regulars discourses most enchanting music there, and it is worth the entrance fee to hear them if there was nothing else to see. Mr. Dorland asked a rope stretch to a giddy height from the top of one of the tall forest trees to another, and performed some wonderful feats in mid air, and to-day he is to travel the same road with a man on his back.

The trotting in harness came off as prescribed in the programme. The prize was to be given to the horse trotting a mile nearest to three minutes, and consequently the fastest trotter would be apt to be best. Such was the case. We give the entries and time table:

L. W. Hasselman (span), 3:24.
L. Dorland (grey), 3:28.
J. Foulrey's (Patey), 3:36.
P. P. Bush's (grey), 3:48.
Mr. Elias Dorsey's Black Hawk, Jr., took the premium as the best draft horse.

This morning the trot for a purse of $50 will commence at 9 o'clock precisely, and the contest will be spirited.

We observed yesterday that the display from abroad exceeded that from our own State and we wish to reaffirm the statement to-day, although we almost blush to make it. Ohio has contributed largely and there are numerous entries from Illinois and Pennsylvania while Kentucky sends some of her best horses.

George E. Shaw, of Pittsburg, makes a fine display of optical instruments, and Mr. G. D. Dittler and Walter & Co., of the same place, exhibit lamps and chimney tops of new and very superior patterns.

The display of fruits is the best we have ever had here, in quality at least if not in quantity. We noticed some peaches from Franklin township, in this county, that the world cannot brag, and there are many clever lots from other portions of the State. Apples are abundant. The apples and catenals, the most common varieties heretofore, have not done well this year, but the Delaware and the different varieties of the French grape have, and luscious bunches of them in great plenty greet the visitor. The cultivation of the Delaware is recommended by pomologists as well adapted to this region of country, and certainly no more delicious fruit is to be found.

We must not forget to mention the needle-work. The fingers of the ladies have not been idle, and many beautiful specimens adorn Miscellaneous Hall.

We proceed with our notices of objects of special interest that cannot fail to attract the eye of the visitor who has an eye to the useful as well as the beautiful.

WILCOX'S PATENT ARTIFICIAL LEG.

Charles Stafford, of Chicago, Illinois, exhibits the above, manufactured by himself. The advantages of this leg over anything ever invented for the purpose is that it comes nearer the natural limb. The flexibility comes so near the real that it would require an expert to distinguish the difference. There is no wire spring used, the motion being produced by a rubber cord. Aside from the purpose for which it was made, it is durable, and will stand the test of usage. The samples on exhibition were taken from persons who had used them—one being in use over nine months—without showing the least sign of deterioration. It is made of the finest quality of hard rubber tubes, made by J. B. Sealey, of Chicago. This is the most perfect mechanical support ever introduced, and is highly commended by surgeons who have examined it.

PATENT CORN EXTRACTING FACILITY.

A. & T. McNamee, of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, have on exhibition samples of the above, of which they are the inventors and manufacturers. To any one the least skilled in mechanics this most wonderful yet simple convenience is really a revelation. It is a simple machine, and differs from all others from the fact that in drawing any kind of liquid from a barrel, keg or hoghead, it needs no vent or opening in the barrel. There is a secret chamber connecting with the barrel through which the air passes into the barrel when liquid is discharging which corresponds exactly with the vacuum to be filled up. It has a complete "cut off" and no air can pass in when the liquid does not pass, which is without doubt the most valuable invention on the grounds, and the hundreds of visitors to Union Hall on last night witnessed with satisfaction its working.

A VALUABLE CORN HARVESTER.

Messrs. Rejstone & Moore, of this city, have entered a machine invented by Mr. Moore for the purpose of cutting and shelling corn. It will cut two rows at once, and is operated by one man and horse. It is a valuable improvement for farmers, and is the only invention for the purpose that promises to be a labor saving machine. The account from the exhibitor is that it is a simple machine, and is operated by one man and horse. It is a valuable improvement for farmers, and is the only invention for the purpose that promises to be a labor saving machine. The account from the exhibitor is that it is a simple machine, and is operated by one man and horse. "OMNE TULIT PUNCTUM QUI SUSCIPIT DULCE."

There could not be a more appropriate application of the above than referring to the display of Warner & Child, proprietor of the Legenda Agricultural Works, Springfield, Ohio. As the proprietor of the above, which has added largely to the interests and benefit of the agricultural community, the proprietors are worthy of special mention. They have invented, introduced and turned to good account, more labor saving inventions than any agricultural establishment on any firm in the West. The interest they have always taken and the commendable spirit and energy they have exhibited is really praiseworthy. The present exhibition would be but a poor one without the large display of plows, churns, mowers, &c., which they have on exhibition, all of which show the most thorough skill and mechanical genius—adapted to all ordinary farm uses, and will be the envy of the farmer.

It will save the least labor of the firm in question, we would add that they have continued a character unsullied by reproach.

PREMIUM TABLE CUTLERY.

Mr. Henry Hunter, of Richmond, Ind., has a fine display of the above on exhibition of his own manufacture. They embrace all the styles and designs of the best material. Mr. Hunter is one of the best mechanics in the country, and his work has been introduced and used in different parts of the country with the best success. Visitors to the Fair will find his entries in Mechanics' Hall.

BRINKERHOFF & CO.'S SELF RAKE.

The above, from the factory of the manufacturers, Genesee, New York, is among one of the most attractive features of the exhibition. In saloon, where crowded with visitors, it has been on exhibition for years, and the result is a perfect "self raking attachment," which can be readily adjusted to any standard machine in use. Its construction is simple, convenient to operate, and it is a most valuable mechanical principle. In raking it does not scatter or scatter the grain, depositing the grain in neat compact gables without waste. The particular attention of manufacturers is directed to an examination of this machine. It possesses points of superiority and merit.

GIBSON'S PORTABLE FENCE.

Mr. William Gibson, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, exhibits the above, of which he is the patentee. Its superiority consists in its simplicity and easy and cheap method of construction. It can be made by any common farmer by the use of a saw, hatchet and nails and at seasons when out doors labor is impracticable. An idea of the expense it will be formed from the fact that with lumber at one dollar per hundred it can be built for fifty-six cents per rod, including posts, braces and all out lays. When made it can be set up with ease and rigidity, and it is a most valuable mechanical principle. It is also calculated for connection at right angles. This is without doubt the simplest, cheapest and most durable article for the purpose ever made. The inventor will dispose of rights very cheaply.

GLADWIN'S PREMIUM HORSE FITCHPOCK.

Mr. J. L. Mansfield, of Clio, New York, exhibits by his agent the above. It is the simplest, cheapest, most durable, easily managed and most efficient working machine ever introduced. This tool has met with favor elsewhere and has but to be seen to be appreciated.

RUSSELL'S ROLLER AND REAPER.

Messrs. M. Russell & Co., of Massillon, Ohio, have, through their agents, Grosvenor & Turner, this city, deposited two of the above. The writer of this notice has been acquainted with the firm in question for twenty years and can speak understandingly of the character of the work manufactured. They did not present their harvester to the public until it had been thoroughly tested, and the success with which it has met is attested by the history of machines. It has been introduced throughout the North and put to the severest tests in all kinds of grain and grass on all kinds of rough as well as smooth ground, and given the most unbounded satisfaction. The manufacturer does not make a machine to "sell," as some others do, but give satisfaction to farmers that will bear the test of trial and usage. We congratulate them on their success, also that our citizens in this city have been so fortunate in securing the agency of so valuable a machine.

State Fair Programme.

Horses for general purposes, trotting and pacing horses, examination of jacks, jennets and mules, oxen, steers, Devon cattle, sheep, hogs, &c.

The celebrated rope walker will give an exhibition of walking in the air, wheeling a barrow on his rope and carrying a man on his back. Tight rope performance at 2 P. M.

Citizens' premium at 3 P. M. on horses in harness or under saddle, fastest trotting time. Entry fee $5.

At 10 A. M. plowing match.

Continued examination of machinery, agricultural and mechanical products, &c.

At 10 o'clock A. M. trotting and pacing horses. At 10 o'clock P. M. Squeakers on horses and Citizens' premium at 3 o'clock P. M. on racking horses under saddle, fastest time. Entry fee $2.

At 4 o'clock P. M. trial of saddle horses. The magnificent band of the 19th United States Infantry will be in attendance during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

THE REVIEW.—An immense crowd of people, some thirty or forty miles away, should judge, gathered around the fairgrounds at Camp Reynolds, yesterday afternoon, to witness the review of the troops. The interest in this military spectacle quite eclipsed the fair. The roads to the fairgrounds were thronged with soldiers and pedestrians, and when the troops commenced moving the people were still streaming in the direction of the glittering bayonets. The ground was too small for the number of troops, but it was the best that could be done in the neighborhood. Our city has got such a notion of growing that it won't stop for the war, and our people will build houses when they can get round to purchase, and consumers in the town, if it don't quit growing, will soon spread over all creation.

The line was formed at 2 o'clock, and extended around three sides of an oblong square. The troops were the 3rd cavalry, a battery of artillery and several regiments and battalions of infantry. In all eight men less than 10,000. The display was much finer than the review by General McClellan five months ago. Gov. Morton rode along the line attended by a brilliant staff of gentlemen, and when the troops commenced moving the people were still streaming in the direction of the glittering bayonets. Our city has got such a notion of growing that it won't stop for the war, and our people will build houses when they can get round to purchase, and consumers in the town, if it don't quit growing, will soon spread over all creation.

The line was formed at 2 o'clock, and extended around three sides of an oblong square. The troops were the 3rd cavalry, a battery of artillery and several regiments and battalions of infantry. In all eight men less than 10,000. The display was much finer than the review by General McClellan five months ago. Gov. Morton rode along the line attended by a brilliant staff of gentlemen, and when the troops commenced moving the people were still streaming in the direction of the glittering bayonets. The ground was too small for the number of troops, but it was the best that could be done in the neighborhood.
